

The Graduate Fellowships Office Announces:
THE SYDNEY EHRMAN FELLOWSHIPS
for 2012-2013

Who may apply?

The fellowship is open to candidates in any field of study who wish to study at King's College in Cambridge and have a bachelor's or master's degree from UC Berkeley (the degree must be completed before the beginning of the fall semester) or have a bachelor's degree from Yale University.

Award:

$10,000 stipend per term (There are 3 terms at King's College )

Additional Information:

- All applicants must be in good academic standing
- Applicants do not need to provide proof of admittance to King's College at the time the application is submitted.
- The Ehrman fellowship is for $10,000 per term to study at King's College. It is not intended to be full financial support while studying at King's College. Any fees required by King's College are the responsibility of the student.
- Applicants who receive the fellowship must provide evidence that they will attend King's College before the fellowship is disbursed.
- This is not a campus exchange program. Students must apply separately to King's College for admission.
- Applicants who have completed their PhD program are not eligible. The fellowship cannot be used as a post-doc.
- The number of awards has not been determined and will depend on the pool of applicants.
- The award may be used to pursue a degree at King's College
- Please note that this is not a full fellowship and does not include tuition nor student service fees at Berkeley.
