

BERKELEY FAMILY HOUSING

About half of Berkeley's graduate student parents live in university housing at University Village in Albany. Over 900 family housing units are available for student families (undergraduate and graduate), from one-bedroom/one-bath to three-bedroom/two-bath apartments. As wait lists are common, register your interest as early as possible, even before arriving on campus.

Families Matter

A Resource Guide for Graduate Student Parents

About one in ten of Berkeley's graduate population is a student parent. UC Berkeley recognizes that a family-friendly academic culture is essential to the success and well-being of all students, faculty, and staff. The University is committed to supporting policies, programs, and services to help graduate student parents meet their family care obligations while they pursue their academic goals.

This brochure offers an overview of resources that can help graduate students balance academic and family responsibilities.

ACADEMIC LEAVE POLICIES

Academic accommodations are mandated by the Graduate Council of the Academic Senate for graduate students who are pregnant and/or have substantial parenting responsibilities. By university policy and state and federal law, all faculty and academic departments and programs must grant applicable accommodations — including extension of time for academic milestones and parenting leave with rights to re-enrollment — to qualifying students. These provisions are detailed in the Guide to Graduate Policy, the document governing all policies related to graduate education at UC Berkeley.

The Graduate Division has added a companion program to the Student Parent Grant, designed to provide assistance to graduate students who are the primary live-in caregiver for an adult individual.

CHILDBIRTH ACCOMMODATION FUNDING

Women doctoral students in good academic standing who hold a fellowship or GSI or GSR appointment, and who expect to give birth during the Fall or Spring semesters, can be excused from regular duties for a period of six weeks without loss of financial support.

CHILD CARE

THE EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION PROGRAM

The University’s Early Childhood Education Program (ECEP) provides early childhood services to infants, toddlers, and preschoolers at five centers in Berkeley and Albany. ECEP’s goal is to help student parents balance school, work, and family. A number of spaces are reserved for the children of student parents and subsidies are provided to qualified parents.

To qualify for a reserved space or subsidy, one parent must be a registered UC Berkeley student. As of summer 2020, ECEP is currently closed, though it may reopen.
