The Graduate Division serves more than 11,000 students in over 100 graduate degree programs. We are here to help you from the time you are admitted until you complete your graduate program.

While your department is often your first stop for information, we help guide you along the path to your degree. We are your partners for an array of academic, personal, and professional support services that are key to the everyday well-being and lifelong successes of Berkeley students. Welcome!

Graduate Division Resources

The Graduate Division has three chief roles in supporting graduate education at UC Berkeley:

Degree Completion
As a central service center for the entire campus, the Graduate Division works to guide and assist students from the moment of admission, through the various milestones of their progress, to the completion of their degree requirements.

Personal and Professional Support
We provide academic, personal, and professional development support services that are vital to the everyday well-being and lifelong successes of Berkeley master’s, professional, and doctoral students.

Policy Creation and Administration
As the authoritative resource and chief advocate for graduate education, we ensure the equitable administration of policies governing graduate studies across Berkeley’s schools and colleges.
Lisa García Bedolla,
Vice Provost for Graduate Studies and Dean of the Graduate Division, is the chief advocate for graduate education and research at Berkeley, working with the Graduate Council of the Academic Senate to sustain the world-renowned excellence of more than 100 graduate programs. The Vice Provost and Dean collaborates with campus faculty and staff to build diverse sources of financial, academic, career, and life-balance support for Berkeley’s 11,000-plus doctoral and master’s students.

Prior to her appointment at the Graduate Division, Vice Provost and Dean García Bedolla served as the director of Institute of Governmental Studies at UC Berkeley and professor in the Graduate School of Education. She has earned five national book awards for her work exploring why people choose to engage politically, and she serves on the editorial board of the American Political Science Review.

Associate Deans are faculty members serving part-time. They assist with strategic planning and communications, review requests for exception to policy, serve as liaisons to the Graduate Council, and represent the Graduate Division in academic program reviews.

Gail Brager
is a Professor of Architecture. An Associate Dean since 2018, she oversees admission allotments for academic programs; reviews academic program proposals and related matters; oversees the Interdisciplinary PhD program; and supports the GSI Teaching and Resource Center, Graduate Writing Center, and mentoring programs. She works with the Advisory Committee for Graduate Student Instructor Affairs and liaises with the campus’s diversity, equity, and inclusion initiatives.

Eric Falci
is a Professor of English. An Associate Dean since 2017, he oversees student financial support (fellowships, awards, grants, and academic employment), coordinates the annual campuswide Fellowships Competition, and determines small fellowship competitions. He oversees student welfare, health and wellness, parenting issues and works with the Advisory Committee for Graduate Student and Postdoctoral Scholar Professional Development.

How We Get the Word Out

- Grad.berkeley.edu

  Our website is the central online resource for all graduate students. There you will find information about upcoming deadlines, fellowships, campus employment, professional skill development, work-life balance, thesis or dissertation filing, and future career preparation.

  See our Student Resources page for essential information on everything from employment to academic milestones.

  - grad.berkeley.edu/students

- Events and Lectures

  The Graduate Division hosts events that instruct and celebrate graduate students:

  - New Graduate Student Orientation
  - Celebration of Distinguished Fellows Reception
  - Professional and Master’s Students Reception
  - GSI Awards Ceremonies
  - Mentoring Awards Ceremonies

  Graduate students are encouraged to attend our annual series of Berkeley Graduate Lectures and Tanner Lectures on Human Values, which bring prominent scholars and speakers from around the world to campus.

- E-Newsletters

  The Graduate Division sends out a monthly electronic newsletter, GradNews, to the email address you’ve entered into Cal Central. GradNews brings you useful facts, tips, and announcements vital to all Berkeley graduate students, including fellowship opportunities, policy matters that affect you, and news of interest to graduate students, alumni, and faculty.

  We also distribute digital digests with information pertaining to graduate student life and professional development. Sign up for these digests at grad.berkeley.edu/enews.

Graduate Student Services

318 Sproul Hall: Admissions, Appointments, Degrees, Fellowships, Student Life

The graduate student services staff are the friendly and knowledgeable people who track your progress from the time you apply to Berkeley until you receive your degree. We coordinate with staff and faculty in your program to get things done for you!

▶ ADMISSIONS

Admissions staff advise prospective applicants, faculty, and departments on policy and procedures for gaining admission to graduate study at UC Berkeley.

✉ gradadm@berkeley.edu  📞 510-642-7405
ramid@berkeley.edu/finance/apply

▶ APPPOINTMENTS + EMPLOYMENT

The academic appointments unit supports departmental staff with their efforts to appoint students in academic and research titles such as Graduate Student Instructors (GSIs), Graduate Student Researchers (GSRs), Readers or Tutors. We also oversee and process fee remission benefits and ensure compliance with mandatory policies.

✉ gradappt@berkeley.edu  📞 510-642-0672
grad.berkeley.edu/financial/appointments

▶ DEGREES

Degrees staff track your progress from registration to graduation. After speaking with staff in your home department for program-specific information, you can consult with our staff about qualifying exams, advancement to candidacy, filing fees, probation, and re-enrollment. Browse procedures, forms, and applications on our web pages. Master’s theses and doctoral dissertations are filed in our office.

✉ degrees@berkeley.edu

▶ GRADUATE STUDENT LIFE

Our Office of Graduate Student Life supports graduate students around issues such as health education and wellness, housing, social connection, and engagement. The GSL staff collaborates with the Graduate Assembly, University Health Services, the Student Parent Center, Berkeley International Office, Recreational Sports, and other campus units to support student well-being and cultivate community among Berkeley’s graduate students.

✉ gradlife@berkeley.edu  📞 510-642-4071

▶ OFFICE FOR GRADUATE DIVERSITY

Office for Graduate Diversity staff provide support services for prospective and continuing students on the Berkeley campus in an effort to maintain a more diverse graduate student community. OGD is a resource for enhancing the educational experience of underrepresented students, including those who are undocumented, first-generation college students, and those who are financially challenged.

Financing Your Education

At Berkeley, your application for admission was simultaneously considered for funding. If you didn’t receive a departmental or university award at admission, don’t stop looking. Keep seeking opportunities throughout your graduate career, as opportunities shift as your work progresses. Be sure to build in sufficient time to complete each application’s requirements (including time for third-party references or nominations) to meet every deadline.

► UNIVERSITY FELLOWSHIPS AND GRANTS

Multi-year fellowships (2+ years)
These fellowships usually cover tuition and fees, with a stipend for living expenses. Students are nominated by their academic departments and selected by faculty committees.

One-year fellowships
Students should consult their academic programs and apply directly for one-year fellowships to cover specific phases of graduate study, including:
Research | Internship | Mentorship | Dissertation Writing

Grants
Grants for graduate students usually offset or cover expenses related to specific projects, such as:
Travel | Summer Research | Language Study
Professional Development | Conference Attendance

Be sure to search your department’s website and other online resources such as grad.berkeley.edu/financial/fellowships for other university funding sources.

► EXTERNAL FELLOWSHIPS AND GRANTS

Graduate students are encouraged to research portable awards from the National Science Foundation and other government agencies, as well as private sources. The Graduate Division offers workshops each fall for students interested in applying for NSF or Ford Foundation fellowships. Browse the websites of federal agencies and foundations, professional associations and journals in your field of interest and online sources such as fastweb.com, finaid.org, and grad.ucla.edu/funding for additional funding sources.

► CAMPUS EMERGENCY LOANS

Any registered student may apply for an emergency loan, interest-free if repaid within 60 days (with a small processing fee). The maximum loan amount is set each semester by the Financial Aid & Scholarships Office and is subject to change without notice.

financialaid.berkeley.edu/short-term-emergency-loan

► FEDERAL LOANS

The Financial Aid & Scholarships Office administers Federal Direct Loans, several smaller federal loan programs, and the Federal Work-Study Program. Graduate students who are U.S. Citizens or permanent residents can usually borrow what they need to supplement their academic year budget (tuition, fees, and living expenses) or pursue merit-based awards and other available resources.

For detailed information on how and when to apply for loans, how funds are disbursed, and important links, see the Graduate Award Guide online:
